The Brady Brief - Recognizing the National Museum of American Jewish History

Dear Friend,

This week, I was proud to recognize a great institution in the 1st District. The National Museum of American Jewish History, located in the heart of Philadelphia, is the only museum in the Nation dedicated exclusively to exploring and preserving the American Jewish experience. My resolution, H. Res 1381, recognizes the National Museum of American Jewish History for its important mission and work and was passed unanimously in the House.

Click on the following to see a video of me speaking on the House floor about this important Resolution.

An affiliate of the Smithsonian Institution, the National Museum of American Jewish History was founded in 1976. The mission of the National Museum of American Jewish History is to connect Jews to their heritage and inspire people of all backgrounds to have a greater appreciation for the diversity of the American experience. With the largest collection of Jewish Americana in the world, the Museum will attract a broad audience to its public program, while exploring American Jewish identity through lectures, authors' talks, panel discussions, films, children's activities, theater, and music. The Museum is currently expanding to a new, state of the art building on Independence Mall. I am excited to see this great institution in our community grow even greater.
